

Memorial Day Sunday, May 29, 2011 American Legion, Damascus

The community Memorial Day service was held on a hot and sunny afternoon at the American Legion in Damascus. Community organizations are invited to participate by presenting flowers at the honor roll near the end of the service. It is a special way to remember the many men and women who serve or who have served our country. The Heritage Society is proud to participate.

The Browningsville Band, in the front on the right, plays several selections before and during the program.

The men of the Legion prepare to open the service.

The Honor Guard gives a salute.

Each offering of flowers is presented individually by different community organizations.

The man in the center is playing taps; always a solemn moment in the program.

The Heritage Society flowers were prepared by Bealls.

At the end of the service there are many flowers to honor those who serve or have served our country.
